

Body Language

with Lin Klaassen

Thursday,
January 14
6pm
Warren Civic Center Library

Our brain relies on snap judgments to categorize another person and predict whether they are trustworthy, threatening, competent, likeable, etc. Being able to accurately read body language can help you ace the job interview, make a date go smoother, excel at reaching your goals, and also serve as a tool to parent better. By popular demand, Lin Klaassen is returning to discuss the art of reading body language.

Please call to register: 586.574.4564