

YOUNG AUTHORS' FESTIVAL 2018

Everyone is invited to attend the 6th annual Young Authors' Festival on Saturday, Nov. 10, 2018 at the University of Michigan-Dearborn's Mardigian Library.

This event includes fun breakout sessions for children in grades 3-5 to help develop their reading and writing skills.

Adult sessions will also be held so parents can learn tips for supporting their children's literacy development.

Other activities include writing contest awards and a book signing by Mark Crilley.

The festival is free and open to the public. Light breakfast will be served.
