Cross-Cultural Programs

WE'LL BRING TO YOUR SCHOOL

Puppet Shows

PuppetART will transform your gymnasium into a theatrical setting.
Our show will take you on a journey to various cultural traditions.

Puppet making workshops

Our engaging puppet-making workshops will teach students the ancient art of puppetry. Children will create their own puppets to take home to commemorate their experience.

RESIDENCIES

Script Writing and Puppet Show Production

A fun and interactive introduction to the art of puppetry. Programs emphasize the artistic and cooperative skills needed to successfully produce a puppet show, while instilling critical literacy, writing and language arts concepts. Students will transform stories into scripts and create puppets. Each residency culminates in a student-created work performed for their peers.

"Helping teachers and students explore the world of puppetry contributes to their academic growth."

Artistic Experiences To Help Meet Your Curriculum Needs

Children learn-
from puppet performances:

- Literature, traditions and histories from a variety of cultures
- Lessons in diversity
- Shared human experiences across cultures
- An appreciation of puppetry as an art form

KOLOBOK

Better known in America as 'The Gingerbread Man', Kolobok is a Russian folktale about the adventures of a little Butterball baked by an elderly couple.

BANANA FOR TURTLE

Questions, misunderstandings, and tricky situations pile up while four jungle animals (a monkey, a parrot, a python, and an elephant) wait for their friend Turtle.

SLEEPING BEAUTY

We all know Sleeping Beauty was cursed by a wicked fairy and awakened by true love's kiss, but how did the Prince find the sleeping Princess?

Children learn-
from puppet making workshops:

- How to create a puppet
- Types of puppets
- History of puppet making
- Puppet manipulation
- Skills for working with different materials
